

Thursday, December 11th (the eleventh)

next part

Listen and write down :

- How many students are there ?
- There are over a hundred (more than a hundred). We can ride, play tennis and there's a big campus
- Isn't the discipline too strict (trop) ?
- Not really ! There are rules of course ! We must obey an honor code : I will not lie (mentir), I will not cheat, will not (won't) steal (voler, dérober).
- It sounds like the Ten Commandments !

Chatham Hall

Visit a boarding school in Virginia

Chatham Hall is a big campus. This document on p.18 is a drawing which represents a map of the campus. It looks like a big park with its trees. In the background, there are hockey/lacrosse field and tennis courts, on the right a soccer field, in the middle a gymnasium, there is a dance building and on the left a riding arena to practise horse-riding and a riding ring to train.

They've got a lot of equipments for the sports.

So sports must be important for the campus.

They also have big buildings for the lessons (many classrooms), offices for the headmasters and dorms which are places where the students can sleep.

There is a chapel where they can pray and faculty houses for the teachers (a faculty is a group of teacher).

The school mascot is a turtle.